Computer mediated communication (CMC) is an umbrella term that encompasses various forms of communication through networked computers, e.g., videoconferencing, phone calls, email messages, etc. While most students are familiar with the various forms of CMC, this may be the first time that most students have had to rely on web communication. Explain the role of nonverbal cues in computer mediated communication, describe the various rules and norms associated with computer mediated communication, and its importance to netiquette. Examine the human communication factors related to computer mediated communication, discuss the process and importance of forming impressions.
