create your own quizzes and flashcards. This approach makes it clear how all of this new information will be used to help patients in the field. Opportunities to apply knowledge equip students to ultimately become better providers. Progressive case studies are followed by a comprehensive summary that answers the critical thinking questions raised throughout the case. For example, with these special labels, an emergency responder would be able to recognize the need for respiratory protection quickly before entering an area where chemicals have been spilled. That said, with its diamond shape, vibrant colors, and clearly visible numbers and symbols, an NFPA 704 label is easily identifiable. The simulation is based on our first 3 minutes program and will focus on human factors around first responder priorities. Drawing on the skills and knowledge attained within the workshop, an RCH nursing competency workbook provides a detailed overview of the nursing competency framework and includes many of the...
